GOVERNOR PROHIBITS SHIPMENT OF WHEAT FROM NORTH DAKOTA

Drastic Action Taken in Endeavor to Increase Prices to Farmers—Complains N.R.A. Has Not Benefited Growers of Middle West But Increased Commodity Costs

BISMARCK, N.D., Oct. 16 (AP).—Governor William Langer late today signed a proclamation prohibiting shipment of wheat from North Dakota, effective midnight Wednesday and continuing indefinitely. He will ask Governors of all other Spring wheat producing states to join him in the embargo plan.

The governor of the United States' leading wheat-producing state of 1933 acted, he said, in an effort to "restore to our farmers a buying power with which to maintain a livelihood, and to stimulate commerce and trade among our people."

Prices now being paid farmers for their wheat "are unreasonably low with the cost of production, and result in an unwarranted drain on the natural resources of our state," said the proclamation.

MAY USE MILITIA

Governor Langer took his action under authority granted him by the 1933 legislature. Use of National Guardsmen would be permitted to enforce the terms of the embargo if he deems it necessary.

"The new deal" has not reached the farmer, said Governor Langer, who ordered the ban in the hope higher prices would result, but added "it is hardly possible the embargo alone can raise the world grain markets."

He asserted, however, his action in invoking a new state law for the first time "is a legal and legitimate manner in which to call the plights of the Northwest farmer to the attention of the nation."

SUBPOENA ALL STOCKBROKERS

Entire Membership of New York Exchange Called to Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP).—Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the United States Senate banking committee, tonight announced the board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange had refused to submit a questionnaire to its members, and as a result subpoenas will be issued for its 1,375 members to appear in Washington at the committee's stock exchange investigation.

Pecora sent a questionnaire approved by the banking committee and containing more than fifty questions to Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, on September 30, asking that the exchange require its members to answer the questions and forward them to the committee.

Part of the questionnaire was to be filled out by the exchange. Whitney said this would be done but the expense imposed upon the members in filling out the other parts would run into millions of dollars.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 16 (CP).—Bryce Boyd was charged in police court today with the murder of Karl Norberg, thirty, who died Saturday from injuries received Friday when run down by an automobile driven by Boyd. The latter was remanded until next week, pending an inquest.

Police arrested Boyd shortly after the accident and charged him with wanton and furious driving, and with failing to return to the scene of the accident. The charge was changed to one of murder today. Boyd and Norberg had quarreled before the accident, police allege.

LAST RITES PERFORMED

Late Dr. Inazo Nitobe Honored in Death After Notable Career

Simple but impressive rites marked the funeral service of the late Dr. Inazo Nitobe, internationally famous representative in the Imperial House of Peers in Japan, and chief of the Nippon delegation to the Pacific Relations Conference in Canada recently. The service was held here yesterday, Rev. Dr. W. O. Wilson officiating. Dr. Nitobe died Sunday after a brief illness.

The widow, Mrs. Mary Nitobe, an American, accompanied by her niece, Mrs. Dewdney, and Miss Mori, an attendant, attended the last rites, prior to cremation of the remains at Vancouver. A prominent list of Japanese consular and other circles was present at the service, in tribute to the great esteem in which Dr. Nitobe had been held.

Dr. Nitobe had only been in Canada a comparatively short time before the end, coming to attend the international conference. For the last five weeks he had been under treatment at the Royal Provincial Jubilee Hospital, where he succumbed, after a losing fight for health.

RAIL DISPUTE NEARING CLOSE

Negotiations Continue and Settlement of Wage Problem Imminent

MONTREAL, Oct. 16 (CP).—In the midst of unconfirmed rumors a settlement was imminent, railway heads and running trades leaders continued their negotiations today. The dispute over a second 10 per cent wage reduction. The 30,000 members of the unions voted to empower their leaders to call a strike, but further efforts at settlement were made after conferences with Premier R. B. Bennett.

The clerks have received one 10 per cent cut in basic wage scales, but A. J. Hill, assistant to the vice-president of the C.N.R., said severe declines in revenues made a second cut necessary. The company also requests three sections of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees be allowed to withdraw from the agreements made with the C.N.R. They are employees in the general car accountant's office; office of the general freight claims agent, and the billing and record office.

Loan Limit Is Exceeded By Millions

OTTAWA, Oct. 16 (CP).—The Dominion of Canada's 1933 Refunding Loan for $225,000,000 was oversubscribed by $31,000,000. The Department of Finance announced tonight. Total subscriptions amounted to $256,000,000.

Of this amount more than $175,000,000 were conversion subscriptions which, under the terms of the prospectus, are allotted in full. This includes conversions of 1933 Victory Loan bonds, as well as $40,000,000 of short-term obligations.

As the loan was fixed at $225,000,000, cash subscribers are subject to drastic reductions.

Premier Gives Warning Against Any Movement To Infringe Liberties

Warns Western Nations Against Red Attack on Shanghai

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP).—Toshio Shiratori, Japanese Minister to Sweden, said here today he believed all powers interested in China must alter their treaties and be prepared to defend their nationals against Communist armies.

"It is possible that the Chinese Communists may attack Shanghai," the Japanese diplomat said in an interview. "They dominate six or seven provinces in the Yangtze Valley and have a well-trained army of 200,000. By means of a good highway built in Sinkiang Province the Yangtze River now has direct communications with Mongolia and they can get war supplies from Soviet Russia by that route."

Austrians Bare Plot of Nazis to Invade Barracks

All Branches of Austrian Army to Be Investigated to Determine Ramifications—Martial Law May Be Declared If Conspiracy Widespread—Military Maps Found in Documents

VIENNA, Oct. 16 (AP).—An urgent investigation of all garrisons and all branches of the Austrian army was launched tonight to determine possible nationwide ramifications of an alleged plot by Nazis to seize the Linz garrison. Government authorities said they had confiscated documents showing Nazis planned to gather in the middle of the night, invade the barracks, arrest the garrison, disarm the officers and men, and take their arms "for further action."

CONSPIRATORS ARE HELD
The alleged conspirators include a woman, said by authorities to be an intimate friend of Reserve Lieutenant Adolf Knickelke. Both the woman and the lieutenant were jailed.

It was not immediately apparent whether martial law would be declared if the conspiracy was found to be widespread.

Martial law, in this event, would have the double purpose of being aimed both at the Nazi party and against the Socialist preparations for a general strike.

Authorities said tonight with the confiscated Nazi documents were found bottles of invisible ink and military maps.

BANISHMENT PROVIDED
Practically at the same hour the Government was announcing a new disciplinary law providing life banishment for any students engaging in riots. Socialists were secretly circulating news of a party conference decision to prepare a general strike.

The decision was voted today and confirmed, and strengthened previous Socialist threats of such a strike if the City Hall were occupied by non-Socialists, if the party were dissolved, or if labor unions were crippled.

VICTORIA'S own sea monster has been pictured in a sketch made "from life" by Charles Eagles, who had the opportunity of making a leisurely examination through a telescope of the Cadboro Bay feature on Saturday. The sketch is on exhibition in the Colonist window, Broad Street.

In order to obtain a more accurate picture The Colonist will pay $20 for the first authentic exclusive photograph of the law-backed monster, which is clear enough to be reproduced.

SHIPWRECK CLAIMS TEN

Motorship Founders in Alaskan Gale—Cutter Searching for Survivors

SEWARD, Alaska, Oct. 16 (AP).—The coast guard cutter Northland was standing by tonight searching for possible survivors of the wreck Saturday of the motorship Good Hope eight miles north of Cape Prince of Wales in Bering Strait, during a terrific gale. Eight lives were believed lost, possibly ten.

The coast guard reported that the body of one of three native girls aboard, all bound for Shismaref, had been recovered.

LIST OF VICTIMS
The death list follows: Engineer Captain Henry Yanooff, Engineer Murphy, Deckhands Ed George and Roy Allok, all of Nome; Elmer Henderson, a passenger, student at Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash., and the three native girls, Clara Foster, Catherine Aden and Bertha Iokongas.

The list would be increased to ten if the report that two Russian sailors rescued by the Good Hope from Little Diomed Island after they had been shipwrecked, is verified.

EVIDENCE OF TRAGEDY
Coast guard headquarters in Seattle heard Indians picked up the body of one girl and the Northland found mail, baggage, and the ship's log on the beach. Captain Stanley V. Parker said he believed all aboard perished. The vessel operated between Nome and Kotzebue, in the Arctic.

Victim of Kidnappers Found Safe

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP).—Police tonight said William Walton-Hale, thirty-one, law student and one of the heirs to a $200,000 estate, reported by his family to be kidnapped, was found tonight and taken to headquarters of the United States Bureau of Investigation for questioning.

Hale, police said, turned up at a beer tavern, owned by Lou Leider, a friend, and law school class mate. He said he had been kidnapped Friday night and held captive for $15,000 ransom.

Four letters, Hale's wife said, apparently from the reputed abductors, had been received since Friday. Police said one of the letters made a $5,000 ransom demand.

GOV'T ESTABLISHES MINIMUM PRICES FOR CRUDE OIL RECOVERY PLANS
WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP).—Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, oil administrator, tonight issued an order fixing minimum United States prices for petroleum and its products effective as of December 1.

Ickes approved recommendations of the industry's planning and coordination committee, setting price schedules throughout the entire industry, with differentials allowed for the various grades of crude oil and its products.

CRUDE OIL PRICE
The base minimum price for 36 gravity mid-continent crude oil, in which class most oil falls, was fixed at $1.11 with variations from this figure, according to gravity quality up and down in other fields.

Minimum prices for gasoline at refineries were set according to the various qualities of gasoline, while a scale of differentials was set up to govern filling station prices.

Revolution May Start in Lisbon

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 17 (AP).—Rumors of a revolution in Portugal were current here today, arising from a sudden ministerial crisis due to Premier Salazar's recent establishment of trade corporations under the Little Portugal plan.

Salazar discussed the Government's position lengthily yesterday with President Carmona, who also interviewed the commanders of the army and the navy.

An emergency meeting of the Cabinet was called for 4 p.m., at which time it is expected the question of Salazar's resignation may be discussed.

Ten-Day Recess Taken as Result of Germany's Abrupt Withdrawal—Reassembly Fraught With Far-Reaching Political Consequences—Great Britain and France Blamed

Strong Hopes Entertained For Eventual Disarmament

GENEVA, Oct. 16 (CP).—Its future cast into uncertainty by Germany's abrupt withdrawal, the World Disarmament Conference today adjourned as soon as it opened. Before it reassembles, October 26, the various statesmen will consult with their Governments as to possible courses open.

Determination of the effort towards disarmament must not be halted was voiced by Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, chairman of the conference, but in Berlin Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath made it plain Germany would have nothing to do with the conference as long as the Great Powers, in his view, refuse to accord her equality.

Decision of the conference when it reassembles, Mr. Henderson said, will be fraught with far-reaching political consequences; for, if Germany insists on rearming in violation of the Treaty of Versailles, subsequent steps may involve sanctions.

Probability was seen the delegates would return to Geneva determined to frame a convention along lines already generally agreed—but a convention will not operate until Germany is willing to sign. It was believed that the convention would recognize the principle of eventual equality of arms, but would not recognize rearming as a part of disarmament.

As the conference adjourned after a tense thirty-minute session, von Neurath, from Berlin, threw out a challenge to it to achieve something for disarmament. "It is up to the other powers; they now have the floor," he said.

Decision of the great powers to adjourn the conference, in face of the German withdrawal, was steered through the brief session in which Mr. Henderson smilingly ignored protests from Russia and some smaller nations, that they had not been consulted.

CANNOT ACCEPT REASONS
The chairman dispatched a telegram to the German Foreign Minister, informing him he could not accept as valid Germany's reasons for forsaking the conference. "The German Government," it said, "took this step at the moment when the bureau had just decided to submit to the general commission a definite programme."

Earlier in the day Mr. Henderson told a great peace delegation, headed by Lord Robert Cecil, that disarmament must go on.

"It cost ten million dead and

HARD FIGHTING NEAR BANGKOK

Government Claims Victory After Desperate Struggle Near Capital

BANGKOK, Siam, Oct. 16 (AP).—Up-country troops and loyal forces clashed today in severe fighting, which saw many killed and wounded and several fighting airplanes shot down.

The fight for control of the government became largely a matter of supremacy in the air, with the establishment by Government forces of a temporary airport in the capital.

From there the Government, with ten airplanes, plans to direct its activities against the rebel air force, which has taken over the military airport, fifteen miles north of the capital.

CLASH IN AIR
Rebel and loyal aviators clashed in the air today, with several ships reported shot down. Pieces of wreckage in the outskirts of the city and, at the end of the day's maneuvers, the Government issued a communique saying the rebellious forces were in retreat.

Trade has fallen off considerably and Siam shipping has been suspended, although foreign companies are carrying on the commerce. Foreign legations are watching developments closely.

Deer Hunter Feared Lost In Cowichan

NANAIMO, Oct. 16.—Clarence "Tiger" Martin, native son of Nanaimo, is believed lost in the woods in Cowichan district since Sunday morning at 11 o'clock when he failed to return to his brother, Robert, and David Campbell, of Nanaimo, with whom he was hunting deer. They left Nanaimo Saturday night and had agreed to return to their starting point at Cowichan River in fifteen minutes after they separated.

Clarence failed to return and has not been seen since. Tuesday at daybreak his hunting companions will join game wardens and provincial police to scour the woods where the missing man was last seen.

Martin is well known in wrestling circles here. He is the son to a pioneer, Captain and Mrs. Martin, of this city.

FILMING IS UNDER WAY

Company on Location at Cowichan—Rehearsal of Cabaret Scene Held

Approximately twenty-five members of Commonwealth Productions, Ltd., went on location at Cowichan Lake, yesterday, and actual filming of "The Crimson West" was started in the afternoon. The company is expected to return about Wednesday to start on the interior sets at the Willows studios.

Wallace Hamilton, sound technician, and Roger Bourne, sound cameraman, arrived from Vancouver yesterday with the sound truck, which is being supplied by the Vancouver Motion Pictures, Ltd. This equipment was set up early yesterday morning, and everything was in readiness for shooting at 1:30 o'clock.

HOLD REHEARSAL

Before going on location Robert Hill, director, and William Beckwith, assistant director, held a rehearsal of the cabaret scene at the Palais de Danse for the producer, Kenneth J. Bishop. Many well known and socially prominent Victorians were among those who participated in the rehearsal, and who will actually take part in the filming of this scene.

ous scenes were then rehearsed, including the main event of the cabaret, the entrance of Mr. Stuart and his friends in a convivial condition, and the subsequent melee and rapid disappearance of the guests.

Oak Bay Asks Adjustment in Hospital Fees

Adjustment of hospital charges was asked of the City Council last night by Oak Bay. It was pointed out that city inmates of the Old Men's Home were charged to Oak Bay under the per capita charge account.

It was further pointed out that the Old Men's Home is exempt from taxation and that the city should make some adjustment. The matter was referred to the Old Men's Home and finance committees for report.

General Strike Threatens in Oriente Province—Army Is Strengthened

HAVANA, Oct. 16 (AP).—Reports of additional labor trouble trickled into the capital tonight as politicians continued their policy of watching and waiting. Colonel Fulencio Batista moved to strengthen his armed forces.

The possibility of a general strike increased at Banes, in Oriente province, where sugar mill workers and employers have been at odds for some time. Between the two groups terminated today with no settlement in sight.

Reports from the sugar mill at Varadero, in Camaguey province, said the company's property was in the hands of a committee of workers and that soldiers sent to investigate the problem had joined the workers.

Military authorities at Antilla, in Oriente, were taking precautions to prevent disturbances connected with a strike of port workers who claim their employers owe them two years back pay.

FOUR CANDIDATES TALK AT OAK BAY

Principles of C.C.F. Expounded by T. G. Sheppard, W. B. Caird, R. Connell and V. R. Midgley

"Communism as practised in Russia and what the C.C.F. proposes to do have no connection whatsoever; all we are trying to do is to pull Canada out of the rut which the policy and sheer lunacy of the system under which we are living has brought us," declared T. G. Sheppard, one of the C.C.F. candidates in Victoria, speaking in St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, last night. The four C.C.F. nominees in Victoria addressed the meeting.

"What we advocate, we advocate for the good of all the people, not just a few of them," Mr. Sheppard said. "Up to the present time money has been sacred in this country; actually it is only a receipt for services rendered or goods delivered. As far as the money we use today is concerned, you did not get it from the one-dollar bills and a banker's head on the five and tens. Our enemies call us unpatriotic, but we are more patriotic than any of them, because we want to put the King's head on all of it."

SYSTEM OUTWORN

V. R. Midgley told the meeting that the voters had the choice of sending back one of the old parties to power, or bringing about a change in the system. The present capitalist system, he maintained, had outlived its usefulness, like the old feudal system, and should be discarded in the same way.

"We have been accused of receiving funds from Russia and of setting up an autocratic council of twelve which selects candidates. All the money we have received has come from contributions at meetings, and the council of twelve has not rejected one single candidate from any constituency."

CLEAN UP POLITICS

Rev. Robert Connell said that the C.C.F. hoped to clean up politics and make it once more the honorable business that it was once regarded as. The C.C.F. he stated, which were essentially Christian, and showed how Christianity itself had in its beginnings been subjected to cruel criticism by the moneyed classes, just as the C.C.F. was now being attacked by the vested interests.

"The Communists want to wait until the present system breaks down and we smash to pieces on the rocks of bankruptcy," he declared, "but we want to take hold of it now and set the house in order before the inevitable smash occurs. Now is the time that we can act with some hope of success; if we wait, the circumstances may not be quite so advantageous."

W. B. Caird spoke briefly, stating that all the C.C.F. proposed to do was to go along a new road in an endeavor to solve the present problems of the country.

Airport Will Be Abandoned When Lease Expires

WITHOUT any debate the City Council last night voted to abandon the Gordon Head airport at the end of this year. This was done on the recommendation of the business and trades welfare committee.

A two-year lease on the property expires on December 31. The city will have to replace fences taken down to provide a landing field for aviators. Last night's action virtually puts Victoria off the air map. The city has no licensed airfield, although flyers still use the old Lansdowne Airport, which is not licensed.

DESCRIBES TOUR OF EXPLORATION

Mrs. Archibald Tells of Trip Made by Her Brother on Trying Expedition

A very informative address on the Chaco-Paraguay expedition during the years 1931 and 1932 was given before the Gyro Club yesterday by Mrs. H. M. Archibald. Charles Brull, a brother of Mrs. Archibald, was one of the leaders of the expedition, and from his notes the speaker gave a lot of valuable information relative to the trials of the parties.

The section of the expedition which was led by Mr. Brull had a most trying time in the snowfields north of India, with transportation facilities consisting of automobiles, ponies and coolies. Some of these troubles were described by the speaker, who said that at times they were forced to camp at 15,000 feet above sea level in a country devoid of roads.

ON TOP OF WORLD

At one stage of the journey the party occupied a height where they could look over the frontiers of India, Afghanistan, Russia and China.

The expedition was made possible by the enterprise of Andre Citroen, the manufacturer of automobiles, who had, with the assistance of the French Government, various scientific bodies and the cooperation of other countries, organized the expedition, which first left the Mediterranean and crossed by means of automobiles to the Pacific Ocean. It had resulted in the gaining of a tremendous amount of information relative to a part of the world that was little known before.

The following resolution was passed: "That this meeting proceed to form a 'One Big Union' for the purpose of controlling the price of fluid milk and stabilizing it at 55 cents per pound butter fat in Vancouver, New Westminster and other centres of the T.B.-free area."

MEETINGS HAVE BEEN HELD WITHIN THE PAST TEN DAYS THROUGHOUT THE VALLEY TO SPREAD THE CAMPAIGN FOR FIXED PRICES, WITH THE SLOGAN: "FIFTY-FIVE TO KEEP US ALIVE."

WOMAN HURT IN ACCIDENT

Mrs. Jessie Agar, Knocked Down by Bicycle, Is Taken to Hospital

Mrs. Jessie Agar, of Crescent Road, was taken to the Jubilee Hospital yesterday afternoon suffering severe, but not serious, head injuries, following an accident at the intersection of Michigan and Powell Streets.

The woman was knocked down by a bicycle ridden by Graham Scott, aged eleven years, of 425 Michigan Street. Graham, who was riding another boy on his machine, told police that some boys were throwing chestnuts at him, and that in trying to dodge them, he struck the woman.

Mrs. Agar was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition, but later regained consciousness. She has several bad cuts on the head and face, but it is believed no fractures were sustained. Dr. Walter Bapty is the attending physician.

POLICE HAVE KHAKI LEADER

Philadelphia "General" Planned to Make Roosevelt Dictator of U.S.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16 (AP).—Four stars gleaming on each side of the collar of his jaunty uniform, Arthur J. Smith, commander-in-chief of the erstwhile khaki shirts, surrendered to the blue coats today.

It was "General" Smith's first public appearance since early Thursday, when police reported he vanished through a window of his "army's" general headquarters.

STORM WASHINGTON

Smith had announced "10,000,000 men" would march on Washington to make President Roosevelt the nation's "dictator," and the Philadelphia delegation, impatient at an all-night delay, started to ask pointed questions.

A moment after the commander-in-chief departed, police squads descended on the general headquarters and two "brigade" headquarters. More than a score of men were arrested and two bushels of weapons seized. Police said the men had been planning to storm a National Guard armory to obtain ammunition for their march on the capital.

THEFT CHARGE

One of Smith's "generals" swore out a warrant for him, charging fraudulent conversions of furniture, and it was on this charge the khaki shirt organizer surrendered. He was released on a copy of the charge for a hearing tomorrow.

The charge is a "lot of hot air," Smith readily explained.

TAX BILL PROPOSAL TO BE CONSIDERED

A proposal from the Nanaimo City Council for the issuance of tax bills twice yearly instead of once a year, was referred to the finance committee of the City Council last night for consideration.

Alderman P. R. Brown said he had a proposal that he wished to lay before the committee whereby monthly tax bills would be sent out to encourage property holders to pay on a monthly basis.

Moreover, he says, that a Socialist Government would not issue bonds payable twenty years hence with interest. The assumption, therefore, is that where industries are taken over by the State, the compensation, if any, that will be given to the owners will be in the form of provincial currency. That is a logical conclusion to be reached if no provincial bonds were to be issued. The candidate in question says, moreover, that "it is only logical to issue scrip to pay for construction works to be owned and operated by the State."

The lexicon of socialism bristles with phrases speciously devised to gain the public. The electors of British Columbia are being told by the leaders of the socialistic movement in the province that money will be provided ad libitum by the simple expedient of printing currency. It is merely a matter of acquiring the necessary printing presses. In following this argument to its logical conclusion it may be assumed that everyone would be paid in provincial currency.

Inasmuch as if the socialism being preached were practised all would be employees of the State. On the basis of what the candidate for Alberni-Nanaimo says, it is logical to pay for works owned and operated by the State "scrip," then it is equally logical to pay in "scrip" for the operations of industries owned and operated by the State. This practice would absolve British Columbia from being dependent on any other system of currency; banks would be a drug in the market in the province, except those created to handle provincial "scrip," dealings such as the ordinary processes of trade and commerce with anyone outside provincial bounds would be abandoned.

The exponents of C.C.F. finance have not yet perfected their scheme for the issue of fiat money. They just hope to devise it. Their hope is to hope more if they hoped less. It is conceivable, of course, that all the lore of political science, of economic dispensation, of sagacious statesmanship, and of the evolution of parliamentary government is concentrated in the heads of the leaders of the C.C.F. Party in this province. That, at least, is their own conception for they are intolerant of views based on the experience of centuries. They are nothing if not original. They are doctrinaires par excellence in evolving theories for escape from the frying pan of life. They emit schemes which dazzle by their vastness but tantalize by their insufficiency.

They are obsessed with the "hope" that they are self-created and ordained for the purpose of revolutionizing society. Only give them carte blanche authority and the nests of all—or is it only the nests of their followers—will be feathered.

There are one or two obstacles to their financial plans. The first is insurmountable one and second, moreover, common knowledge, although seemingly not known to the C.C.F. candidate for Alberni-Nanaimo. It is that a Provincial Government has not the authority to issue currency. That is exclusively a Federal matter. It is Ottawa, not Victoria, that, so far as Canada is concerned, deals with currency, monetary matters, stabilization and germane subjects. Were currency disguised under the name of "scrip" that

"scrip" would not be negotiable in the ordinary transactions of business. It would be

"phony" money. The only backing which a Provincial Government could give to the issue of such "scrip" would be its ability to tax, and to accomplish such a doctrine of inflation as is proposed would mean at least trebling of taxation in British Columbia. This province, moreover, could not pay its debts in "scrip." Its provincial debt is owed in New York, in London, in Montreal, and must be paid in terms of the currency in which it was borrowed. The issue of "scrip" in this province could accomplish the bankruptcy of British Columbia quicker than any other measure. It would be bad money which would drive all the good money out of the province and our industrial interests and their

The Calgary Herald is of opinion that the secret of the attraction of one sex to another is largely a question of how one person regards another, and good looks hardly enter into the matter at all. If that newspaper is right, it is a question of disposition; of qualities in one person that attracts another. Its dictum is that the ability to retain a certain disposition is the best way to be thought good-looking by somebody. This is perhaps an easy definition that son that attract another. Its dictum is that art of love. That art is never brought to any perfection by mere physical attraction or admiration of dispositions. It has a thousand and one ramifications. It is not a matter of reason or of following the dictates of what is best to be done. Knowledge may be brought to bear on its processes, but the implication in that case very often betokens that the love is of a weak variety, and perhaps hardly worthy of the name. As Christina Rossetti wrote:

For what is knowledge duly weighed?
Knowledge is strong, but love is sweet;

Yea all the progress he had made
Was but to learn that all is small

Save love for love is all in all.

The question of beauty is one that invariably arises where there is speculation about the attraction of one sex for another. Such a discussion was the inevitable consequence of The Calgary Herald having ventured to define what constitutes being handsome or beautiful. It was driven to the eternal issue of an answer to the query that is always on so many lips: "What on earth did he see in the woman he married that made him choose her?" or "What under heaven could she see about that awkward object of a man that made her marry him?" These are queries to which there is no permanent answer.

What gives rise to them merely shows that physical perfection, or near-perfection, has little or nothing to do with marriage. There are, in fact, few people able to define what love is, and those who attempt the task generally end weakly in the acknowledgment that it passeth understanding.

DR. INAZO NITOE

A mediator between East and West has passed on in the death in this city of Dr. Inazo Nitoe.

Of distinguished Japanese ancestry and a member of the House of Peers, who was educated on this continent and married to an American lady, this leader of thought with his western affiliations was well qualified to promote mutual understanding between his native land and this continent. Opportunity for this sort of service was given Dr. Nitoe as Japan's first representative to the League of Nations of which body he was Under Secretary for a time. In a course of lectures delivered last Winter in the United States, Dr. Nitoe endeavored to interpret to the American public his country's position regarding affairs in Asia. He was also a mediating influence as an active member since its inception of the Institute of Pacific Relations. Though in failing health he insisted on taking part at the institute's recent meeting at Banff.

The contribution that Dr. Nitoe made to mutual understanding between the nations was no doubt inspired by his faith in Christianity, of which he was a highly honored exponent. In his own country he is best known as an educationalist, having served his Government in this capacity both as administrator and lecturer. His interest in Christian education was shown in the founding of the Woman's Christian College of Japan, which has just completed its fifteenth year. Of this college, better known in Japan as the Tokio Woman's University, Dr. Nitoe was first president almost at the time of his death honorary president. Deep sympathy will go out to his widow who has been living in this city for several months.

THAT "LIKE THE DICKENS" FEELING IS LIVER

Wake Up Your Liver Bile. Feel Fit. You Needn't use Calomel To Do It.

It's your liver, failing to pour out the vital two pounds of bile daily, into your bowels, that makes you feel so off-color. Lack of bile means poor digestion. Food stays too long in your bowels and decays. Your system is poisoned. You go through the misery of gas, bloating, pain, heartburn. You have a dark brown sallowish tinge to your mouth and bad breath. Your skin's unhealthiness and often your head aches. Your whole system seizes out of order.

How can you reasonably expect to clear up a condition like this by merely taking salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum or roughage? These only move the bowels, and that's not enough. You must wake up your liver.

Avoid calomel (mercury). Take Carter's Little Liver Pills. They're purely vegetable, little liver pills. They make you feel a hundred per cent better in a very short time. Don't waste your money on substitutes. Be definite. Ask for Carter's by name—and get them! Look for the name, Carter's, on the red label. 50c. at all druggists.

REPLIES TO CRITICISMS

Premier Tells Electors Real Facts Concerning Debt and Expenses

"This Government does not ask for any favors, or expect any, but it would, at least, appreciate strict adherence to facts. Fooling the people will not get us out of our troubles. There are more important matters to engage our attention at the moment," Premier Tominie told electors here last night.

The Premier was referring to specific statements made by T. D. Pattullo, leader of the Liberal party, and Rev. Dr. Clem Davies, pastor of the Victoria City Temple and an independent candidate for Victoria City, and these statements, the Premier declared, were erroneous.

REPLIES TO PATTULLO

"For instance," the Premier said, "when Mr. Pattullo was addressing a meeting at Prince George on September 23, according to press reports, he stated that the public debt had been increased by $65,000,000 by the present Administration in the past five years. As a matter of fact the public debt has been built up as follows. At the time the previous Administration took office in 1916, it was $25,521,860, and when it went out of office after twelve of the most prosperous years in British Columbia, instead of building up a surplus they had increased that debt to $104,000,000 and, in addition, left $14,000,000 of unfinanced deficits.

"This increase in the public debt during the past five years," the Premier continued, "has amounted to $12,271,620. Of this amount $14,540,590 covers the financing of deficits and commitments by the previous Administration. These were unavoidable and no fault of ours, but had to be provided for as one government assumes the debt of previous administrations in all cases.

Therefore, exclusive of the commitments of the previous Administration and unemployment relief, $8,225,044, the net increase in the public debt by this Administration is $28,405,986. This was mainly due to the tremendous shrinkage in revenue which necessitated the securing of money to carry on the affairs of the country, necessary expenditures on highways and bridges—for we must maintain safety on our roads and particularly on our bridges—carrying out works in connection with former policies, the construction of buildings at Esquimalt and at the various sanatoria, which must be provided for. There were irrigation projects, arising from former policies, dyking, relief, parks, Crown property development, Soldiers' Land Act, less some $93,000 for debt redemption. What of these expenditures could have been avoided?"

THE HAZELTON BRIDGE

Replying to criticisms of Rev. Dr. Clem Davies, at his meeting in the Chamber of Commerce, Saturday evening, the Premier said: "Rev. Dr. Davies is reported in the press as having made some very pronounced criticisms, and I just desire to deal with two cases where he referred to two pieces of work completed during our term of office. The first is the Hazelton Bridge, reported by Dr. Davies as having been built at a cost of $75,000 and actually cost $200,000. These figures are quite erroneous. As a matter of fact the estimated cost was $202,000 and the actual cost of the structure was $182,000, which included the road approaches.

"Regarding his criticism of the road building program, the Premier stated, 'this road has been a great cause for expenditure in the past. The island has suffered much from erosion from the action of the river. Although the Provincial Government has expended large sums of money from time to time the condition of the road continued to be a menace to public safety. It was, therefore, necessary for this Government to make a determined effort to reconstruct this road, placing it in condition so that it would not suffer from tide water and where the people would be able to travel in safety at all seasons of the year. While this required a heavy expenditure of money, the economy will be evident over a period of years. The road is a very important one, being one of the outlets from Vancouver along that side of the river and the vast improvement in it in this section will be a great asset to the province. The new road is one and a quarter miles shorter than the old.'

COST OF HIGHWAYS

The Premier explained the reasons for the expenditure of money on roads and bridges during the Government's term of office and made reference to the rapid development in the province in 1910 and to 1912 when settlers were coming into the land. "The roads were roughly constructed at that time and have since been improved, some of them becoming main highways. It must be remembered that the life of a bridge is from fifteen to twenty years and a large number of them had reached their limit during the time this Government was in office. There has been no extravagance, the great percentage of them being built within the estimates of the engineers."

The Premier also referred to the need of development of British Columbia markets and placed this as one of the important factors for the return of normal conditions. He

CAPITAL INVESTMENTS

"The Unionist party stands for the encouragement of the investment of capital in our province, realizing that this province cannot hope to prosper without capital. In a vast new country like British Columbia this is most important. We will encourage its introduction and protect it when it comes here," the Premier declared.

In conclusion, the Premier advised the people to take a sane view of the situation and remember at all times that there are "no short cuts to prosperity and radical changes are not necessary. Good and honest work of the Government will not get us anywhere and we must co-ordinate our efforts and work together."

ELEVEN TYPES JOIN CONTEST

Seven Groups and Independents Listed in Victoria for Election

Eleven types of candidates, to the aggregate number of 220, will appear for the suffrage of British Columbia electors on November 2, according to the official list of candidates published yesterday by the King's printer for election officers. Unionist party of British Columbia, Liberal party, Conservative party, Co-operative Commonwealth League, Independent Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, Independent Non-Partisan Group, Independent candidates, Independent Liberal, Labor, Socialist, Socialist Party of Canada, United Front Workers and Farmers, are the designations given in some of the lists. The lists also show the party affiliations where party affiliations show on the ballot paper.

TELEGRAPHS PRAISED

Provincial officials yesterday sent a cordial message of thanks to British Columbia telegraph services for record fast clearance of returning officers' messages and the deputy provincial secretary on nomination day. The names of all candidates accepted from Atlin to Victoria were on file in the Victoria ninety miles after the close of nominations, and the initial list was correct in all save negligible particulars. Returning officers in the field were also warmly thanked.

Eight of the eleven political groups are running in Victoria. Independent C.C.F., Independent Liberal, Independent Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, Independent Non-Partisan Group, Independent candidates, Independent Liberal, Labor, Socialist, Socialist Party of Canada, United Front Workers and Farmers, are the designations given in some of the lists. The lists also show the party affiliations where party affiliations show on the ballot paper.

"WHEN IN ROME, DO AS THE ROMANS DO"

We are all familiar with this popular old saying, for which a reader asks the origin.

The saying goes back to an incident that has come down to us out of the life of St. Augustine. Accustomed to eating fast on Saturdays, Sunday, St. Augustine was puzzled over the practice then prevailing in Rome of fasting on Saturdays. He consulted St. Ambrose, who is said to have replied: "Quando hic sum, non jejuno Sabbato; quando Romae sum, jejuno Sabbato."—When I am here, I do not fast on Saturday; when at Rome, I do fast on Saturday!

The popularity of the saying in English speech is no doubt to be largely attributed to its appearance in that early seventeenth century English classic—Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy," in which it appeared as follows: "When they are at Rome, they do there as they see done."

CITY DIRECTORY LECTURE TOPIC

Roy Wrigley Tells Rotarians Romance of Compiling Publication

"The city directory has become so intimately associated with every phase of daily life that it is accepted as a matter of course," Roy Wrigley, publisher of the Wrigley Directory, told a gathering of the Rotary Spokes Club at an informal meeting held in the home of Arthur P. Dewe.

The first directory in book form was published in London in 1640 and contained only "the names of gentlemen of accomplish (accounts) two were reading within the City of London." A more comprehensive volume was published in 1677 under the title "A Collection of the Names of Merchants."

PARIS SECOND CITY

Paris was the second city to have a directory, which appeared in 1691 for two consecutive years. These two were the only cities in which directories were issued during the seventeenth century, and were apparently far ahead of the times as it was many years before other attempts were made.

Forty-one years later the first publication bearing the name of "Directory" was issued in London. One of the chief difficulties of directory publishing at this early period was the lack of house numbers, and because of this many of the houses were known as "The Black Bear," "The White Swan," "The Six Golden Lights," or "Such and such a row next door to the goldsmith." House numbering did not become general until 1800. Difficulties had to be overcome gradually until the present system of street and house numbering was found.

BECOME NECESSITY

In the nineteenth century the need for directories became a necessity, occasioned by the increase in population, the extension of business, the numbering of houses, and improved conditions in general.

The city directory today is the index of the civic, social and industrial life of the community it serves. It contains a wealth of valuable facts, and data no where else obtainable. Information is gathered by a house-to-house canvass, checked and rechecked six times, so as to make it as accurate as is humanly possible. All names are entered on cards, and it

SMALL BOTTLE CONQUERS MOTHER'S COLD AND BANISHES BABY'S COUGH

Here is just another instance amongst thousands that goes to prove there is "nothing like BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE" for coughs, or colds. But we'll let Mrs. Beckley of Tadmorden, tell the story herself.

"Recently, I had such a cold I couldn't sleep. I got a small bottle of BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE and in a couple of days my cold had disappeared. My 18 months old baby coughed a great deal at night. I gave him a few drops of BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE and he stopped his cough entirely and now he sleeps the night through."

That is one great feature of Buckley's Mixture. It is no doubt to be the same perfect safety as you can get to a grown-up. If you have a cough, cold, or bronchitis, get a bottle of this remarkable remedy today—it acts like a flash—a single sip proves it. Buckley's Mixture is sold everywhere. Refuse substitutes.

STUDENT TILTS BECAME BATTLE

"Scraps" of Other Days Are Recalled at Trial in Edmonton

EDMONTON, Oct. 16 (CP).—How students "in those days" met in pitched battles and didn't mind when they had skin torn from their heads, elbows or knees, and how Herman Trele, now world wheat champion and then a "freshie," had his arm broken in one of those battles, was described in Supreme Court today by Reginald Charles Lister, head residential janitor at the University of Alberta since 1914.

The battles he described occurred in 1914 and 1915, and were related to sketch the history of initiation at the university. Lister appeared as a defence witness in the $203,000 damage action brought against the university by Charles Horatio Armand Powell, Calgary, because of alleged mental unbalancing of his son, Armand, at 1932 Fall Initiations.

SOME ENJOYED IT

The defendant also called a series of students today who said initiations which they took last year did them no harm, and one student, Stafford McDonald, recalled he actually "kind of enjoyed it."

Edward Phillip Collier and George W. Dixon, both of Calgary, and now students at the University of Alberta, told of actions by Armand before he entered the university, which were, in their opinion, peculiar.

The janitor, Lister, also told of seeing Armand, of talking to him, and of deciding "something was wrong." Previous testimony has been the boy came to Edmonton on Monday of initiation week of last year and by Thursday was in hospital with mental disorders.

HAZING IN 1915

Lister declared in the early days of the institution, freshmen seemed to be older than they are today, and observed in the initiation battles of history "there were lots of black eyes and skinned faces." He declared in 1915, when the faculty of agriculture was opened, "some of these big farmers came in with big mustaches, and the system was to cut them off, or half off, and then the fight would start. But dull razor or sharp razor, it came off."

The system in the early days, he said, was for the sophomores to get a freshman and put him through stunts while the freshmen organized to rescue him. He said he has seen star banners ripped out and used as arms, bath tubs torn from their moorings, and as many as 120 students in a fight at one time.

Those days, however, are gone forever, except for the "odd fight," he said.

CHINESE INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT

Walter Lee and Harvey Lowe Slip on Street Car Track—Quick Stop Is Made

Minor injuries were suffered by two Chinese in a street car accident at the intersection of Cormorant and Government Streets, yesterday afternoon. The injured youths were Walter Lee, 308 Flanagan Street, and Harvey Lowe, 1903 Quadra Street.

When crossing Government Street, the two youths apparently slipped in the middle of the street car track, a police reported. W. Lee, 312 Russell Street, operator of the car, brought it to a quick stop, but the front guard touched the men.

Lee was rendered temporarily unconscious by a blow over the head. He was taken to the Jubilee Hospital, where a bad cut was stitched. His condition is not serious. Lowe, who complained of a bruised ankle, was taken home.

ADVISORY BOARD IS ESTABLISHED

Cecil French, Francis Kermode, E. D. Todd and W. H. Warren were appointed to an honorary advisory board in connection with the operation of the Elk Lake Swannery and Bird Sanctuary by the City Council last night.

Their appointment was made on the recommendation of the parks committee, with a view to bringing about a continuity of policy in connection with the development of the sanctuary.

It also was decided to allow Mr. French to erect a formal notice at the sanctuary, giving a list of those who had given swans and other fowl.

Join the "Y" Week

During the next few days sixty Victoria men are giving their valuable time and interest to soliciting memberships for the Y.M.C.A. They do this for three main reasons:

1—Because they believe that every boy, young man and older man needs the "Y" physically. The Y.M.C.A. specializes in recreational and remedial physical culture, and offers excellent facilities and equipment, plus the services of a trained instructor, at unbelievably low rates.

2—Because they believe that the "Y" can supply opportunities along the line of educational, cultural, esthetic and devotional groups, clubs, and activities that will help youth and age alike to develop their greatest asset—personality—in a Christian character-building atmosphere.

3—Because they believe that where a man has genuine altruistic community interest, and he cannot use the privilege himself, he will be glad to support the good work by taking out a membership and passing on to some delighted recipient the actual use of the card. If you do not know such a boy or young man, one can easily be found.

Anniversary Of Review Is Happy Affair

Gaiety and happiness prevailed last evening when the Queen Alexandra Review No. 1, W.B.A., celebrated its forty-first anniversary. The affair was in every way a decided success, members again proving themselves perfect hostesses, with Miss Annie Reid and Mrs. H. Thompson as the general conveners.

A banquet at 6 o'clock, in the Chamber of Commerce, commenced the programme. Then nearly 100 persons sat down to tables beautifully decorated in the colors of the order, red and white. Chrysanthemums, dahlias and cosmos were the flowers used, and tall red and white tapers and novel favors completed the arrangements. Mrs. L. Legault, the health supervisor for the Province of British Columbia, was the guest of honor, coming over from Vancouver for the occasion. She gave an enlightening talk on health. The president, Mrs. M. Burnett, presided over the affair and gave the toast to The King and the order. Mrs. R. Ritchie proposed a toast to the supreme president, Mrs. Dina West Miller, and gave an interesting talk on the work of the order and that of the supreme president.

Adjourning to the New Thought Temple at 8 o'clock, the review held a short business meeting, during which plans for the bazaar, to be held on November 20, were made. Following this, a delightful social time was held, the entertainment being arranged by Mrs. L. Schmelz and Mrs. Annie Reid, while house-keeping and refreshments were arranged by Mrs. A. Edmonds. Contests, cards and games were among the social features, Miss Evelyn Dawson being the accompanist.

Cost of Public Works Said to Be Satisfactory

Showing the public works' expenditures were not exceeding estimated charges, Municipal Engineer H. F. Bourne presented his report of expenditures for the first nine months of the year to the Council last night.

Actual expenses amounted to $11,024.92; $15,321.20 was estimated for public works, leaving a balance of $4,801.76. The council, expressed itself as being well pleased with the report.

Use of the Municipal Hall for polling purposes on November 2 was allowed.

Former Victorian Weds in Seattle

A wedding of interest to Victoria friends of the bridegroom took place in Seattle on Saturday, at St. Mark's Episcopal Cathedral, when Miss Lucy Allison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Allison, of Seattle, became the bride of Mr. John Walter Bennett, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bennett, of Seattle, formerly of this city. Very Rev. John D. MacLachlan officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a smart olive green wool frock with matching coat trimmed with mole on the shoulders and collar. Her hat was brown, with a gold buckle and she carried a mole muff. Her corsage was of yellow orchids.

Miss Dilya Bennett, sister of the bridegroom, was her only attendant. Her frock was of claret wool and brown satin, with a brown velvet scarf tied close to the throat, and a broad belt buckle and rhinestones. She wore a wide brown hat with rhinestone clips and had a corsage of Tallman roses.

Mrs. Allison was wearing a gown of brown crepe, with white lace bodice, with sleeveless jacket, trimmed with brown fur and brown velvet hat. A corsage of Tallman roses lent a note of color. Mrs. Bennett, mother of the bridegroom, wore a turtle brown sheer wool dress with Ascot scarf, a corsage of yellow roses and a brown felt hat.

Mr. Andrew Elliott, of Vancouver, B.C., served as best man and the ushers were Prof. Eden Quinlan and Mr. Keith Weston, both formerly of Victoria.

An informal reception followed at the Rainier Club. Miss Alice Cotton, of Victoria, was among the out-of-town guests at the wedding. Mr. Bennett and his bride will make their home in Shelton, Wash.

What Today Means

"LIBRA"

If October 17 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 8 to 9 a.m., from 11 a.m. to 12 noon and from 4:35 to 5:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 2 to 3 p.m., from 6:15 to 6:50 p.m. and from 8 to 8:40 p.m.

If you have been working along under strained conditions for some time, the chances are that the matter will come to a head on this day. It may mean a change for you in a business way, or a readjustment of your personal life. Guard your words, and do not speak out of turn; let the other party or parties force the issue.

The child born on this October 17 will probably skip along through the early years of its life without difficulties of any sort. It may be troubled with problems of health in its late teens, but these should clear up nicely in short order. Will generally get its way in most matters without much trouble, but will be capable of fighting hard for what it wants.

If October 17 is the date of your birth, you are quite likely a person with many destructive qualities; you like to tear things down and on many occasions you have a depressing effect. You are very critical, and no person or thing is accepted by you "as is"; there seems to be a mental reservation of some sort to everything that you think and say. You never look for good in other people and you always call attention to the bad. You expect things to go wrong, sooner or later. Eventually they do, largely because of your own making, and then you blame the other party. You have until you drive them off in some way. You never admit that you are in the wrong; it is always the other person who has "done you dirt."

You have, if born on October 17, many fine qualities along with the others. You are possessed of great energy and you enjoy working hard, whether you are about your own business or are working for another. You have a good mind and, on most things, think pretty straight. In spite of appearing rather hard and indifferent on the surface, you have a very warm and soft heart and do many nice things for people. It is probable that you do not like those of your own sex. Your supreme egotism and desire to run the whole show may keep you from marrying. There will be tragedy in your life.

Robinson: "Who was that man you just raised your hat to?" Green: "That? Oh, that was my barber. He sold me a bottle of hair restorer a month ago, and whenever I use him I let him see what a fraud he is."

Resolution Aims at Representation of Women in Cabinet

Local Council Endorses Soroptimist Club Motion—Member Thinks Proviso of "Suitability" Would Discriminate Against Sex

CABINET representation for women in British Columbia is sought in a resolution, emanating from the Soroptimist Club of Victoria, endorsed by the Local Council of Women in its regular monthly meeting yesterday. The Soroptimists' resolution, which had already been the subject of an interview with the Premier, called attention, in its lengthy preamble, to the candidacy of several women in the forthcoming provincial election, and indicated numerous reasons why "no matter what group or party is returned to power, they should pledge themselves to Cabinet representation for women."

Miss Foxall and Mrs. E. Mills, representing the Soroptimist Club, spoke briefly on the matter before the resolution was put to the meeting. The resolution, on motion of Mrs. William Grant, endorsed. The resolution incorporated the motion that a copy be sent to the Premier and various other partisan and non-partisan groups.

Speaking to the motion, Miss Foxall commented that when they had interviewed Premier Tolmie, he had readily assented to the idea of a woman in the Cabinet, "providing she measures up in brains to a man." This evoked from one member a suggestion that the adjective "suitable" be inserted before "woman," but others objected to this on the ground that no such proviso was demanded in connection with men elevated to Cabinet rank.

CHILDREN'S AID
Mrs. J. L. White and Mrs. A. E. Hopkins were appointed a committee of two to gather information as to the advisability or necessity of the Children's Aid Society as well as the Friendly Help Welfare Association, under the name of the League of Nations since its inception, her contention being that it had more than justified its existence both in preventing actual war and through its fine educational, scientific and social work.

Among the more important questions handled by the League were limitation of armaments, opium traffic, traffic in women and children, emigration, health and slavery, its three essential functions being diplomatic (drawing up draft conventions and recommendations, international ratifications without undue delay, etc.), liaison (as between employers and workers' organizations, both national and international), and research. Of special interest to many members was the information concerning the work being done by the League in examining, in connection with the use of opium, cocaine, and other dangerous drugs, of various serums, used for diphtheria, dysentery, pneumonia, and similar uses.

UNEMPLOYED CAMP
Mrs. Llewellyn and Mrs. J. L. White reported having attended the recent meeting of the Friendly Help Welfare Association. Mrs. Parsons read a communication from Captain Levanor, of the unemployed camp at Otter Point, expressing appreciation to the council for their interest in the men, and appending a list of suggested requirements, particularly sports equipment (football boots, soccer balls, shorts), and noting that sports helped to keep up the morale of the men. Donations, which may include also books, magazines and games, may be left at the Todd wood and coal office, Douglas Street.

The meeting decided, on motion of Mrs. Bertha Parsons, to join forces with the League of Nations Society (Victoria branch) in holding a tea in aid of the society's funds.

QUESTIONNAIRE
Points in a questionnaire circulated by the National Council, concerning taxation, was read to the meeting by Mrs. J. L. White, and will be taken up at the next meeting, namely: Should not currency issues be under complete control of the Dominion Government? If currency were under control of a central bank, would it not lessen the necessity for bond issues or borrowing? Would it give the Government more control over their investments and over large financial houses? Should the mortgage be carried by the province? What are the tax exemptions in your province? Would you suggest that many exemptions be repealed?

The council was also asked for suggestions for relieving municipalities of school board expenditures, and as to whether school buildings could be provided more cheaply by the department direct.

Mrs. Spofford reminded the members that the November meeting would be the last one of the year, and that the annual meeting of the League of Nations would be held in London.

Strawberry Vafe
A very successful silver tea was held on Friday afternoon, in the Institute Hall, on Wilkinson Road, in aid of the athletic fund of Strawberry Vale School. A splendid spirit of co-operation was shown by parents and friends who attended. During the afternoon, musical items were enjoyed, those taking part being Mrs. Smythe, Miss Muriel Butt, Miss Patsy Gilham and the principal of the school, Mr. G. Love. Tea was served by the senior girls, with Mrs. J. Humphries as convener, and from the silver collection $10.75 was realized.

ST. Andrew's
St. Andrew's Presbyterian Y.P.S. will hold a meeting tonight in the church at 8 o'clock. Organization of a dramatic club under Mr. A. Trevett will be the business to be discussed. All members are asked to attend.

Mannish Touch Adds Chic to Hat

Hint of Masculinity Gives Sort of "Devil-May-Care" Air Very Dear to Feminine Heart

Left, Felt Cloche; Right, Red Antelope Toque.

By MME. LISBETH
"ONE touch of nature makes the whole world kin," says one William Shakespeare. Possibly one touch of mannishness to the feminine wardrobe may not be according to nature, but again it may. For women, whatever they may say to the contrary, do admire the lordly male, and like to ape his prerogatives and often his attire.

In any case, certain it is that a dash of mannishness in the feminine headgear often gives a smart touch—a sort of devil-may-care air to it—that is very fascinating and therefore dear to the female heart.

The mannish felt cloche, pictured above, is individualized by a crown so manipulated as to give the effect of two padded rolls running from front to back. It thus acquires that popular peaked effect.

To the right is a toque of red antelope built on the lines of the fatigue cap. It also is reminiscent of that charming Barrie character, Peter Pan.

Both are excellent choices for the college or business girl for everyday wear.

Weddings
SANDFORD-HIBBERD
St. Mark's Anglican Church, Boleyn Road, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Sunday noon, when Rev. O. L. Jull united in marriage Evelyn (Scugge), youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hibberd, 1218 Hillside Avenue, and Frederick, only son of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Sandford, Georgia Street, Vancouver, formerly of Victoria.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was becomingly attired in nigger brown with jacket and velvet turban, with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of sweetheart roses and violets. She was unattended. The groom was escorted by Mr. Norman Findler. After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at 1218 Hillside Avenue. A toast to the young couple was proposed by Mr. N. Findler, and responded to by the groom. Later, a reception was held at "Le Larse," the Brentwood home of the bride's parents. Among the many gifts received was an electric coffee percolator from the staff of the Hudson's Bay Company, of which the bride was a member. The young couple left on the midnight boat for Vancouver, where they will make their future home.

Aviatrix Has Miraculous Escape

HURTLING to earth from 2,000 feet with rudder bar jammed by a shifting suitcase, and crashing at Orly, near Paris, was the experience of Mrs. Stella Empson, twice-elected British "Venus," and her husband, Major R. C. Empson, while on an air tour in France, recently. Both had a miraculous escape from death. Here is Mrs. Empson seen in her airplane.

atre. It is Margaret Lindsay, who made her first big hit in "Cavalcade," and who has attracted widespread attention for her characterizations in many recent productions.

CAPITOL Paramount's musical comedy, "Too Much Harmony," is now showing at the Capitol Theatre, with a cast of favorite stars, including Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie, Skeet Gallagher, Harry Green, Lilyan Tashman and New Sparks. "Too Much Harmony" is the story of a musical comedy troupe between the finish of one season and the start of the next. Love, laughter and song play a large part in the everyday life of the troupe as it is of their theatre life.

HOBBART BOSWORTH TO PLAY IN FINE DRAMA

Hobart Bosworth, veteran screen actor, is playing his first motion picture role in more than a year in the Columbia production, "Lady for a Day," which will show at the Dominion Theatre next week. "The Lady for a Day" is Bosworth's last picture before his departure, and the day after he arrived in Los Angeles he donned grease paint for his role of the Governor in "Lady for a Day." Frank Capra, Columbia director, directed "Lady for a Day" with an all-star cast that includes Warren William, May Robson, Guy Kibbee, Glenda Farrell, Ivan Parker, Barry Norton and Walter Connolly.

DANCE REVUE TO BE STAGED ON FRIDAY

Considerable interest is being shown in the musical and dance revue, to be staged in the Shubert auditorium, on Friday, by the Allan School of Music and Dancing. There are few persons who do not enjoy the exhilarating atmosphere of stage dancing, when associated with polished technique, rhythmic beauty and correct deportment. The novelty items include a "Living Skeleton" dance, an intriguing banjo toe dance, a wide range of instrumental music being provided.

LECTURER TO SPEAK ON THURSDAY

Maybe he hasn't discovered the secret of "eternal" youth, but Dr. G. Jackson, of Toronto, who looked to speak in the Hudson's store on Thursday, October 19, at 8 o'clock, and in the City Hall, at 8 o'clock of the same day, knows that a youthful, vital man can be developed by any well-learned man or woman whose art has not degenerated too far. Jackson's subject during his lecture to Victoria, on his only public appearance in this city—at the Hudson's Bay and at the City Temple—will be "The Pathway to Perfect Health." The general public is invited to attend both lectures.

ENTERTAINMENT DANCER TO APPEAR HERE SHORTLY

Coming of Michio Ito, one of the most uniquely interesting figures in the dance world, is being anticipated. He brings with him a company of well-known dancers, and his appearance is scheduled for Monday, October 30, at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

Artist of amazing originality, who won the interests of many musicians, Charles Griffes was so impressed with his genius that he arranged his "Piano" for Ito's use, and accompanied him at his first recital. At the Griffes memorial concert in New York, a few days ago, Ito was one of the winners and appeared in three numbers arranged for him by the American composer.

Ito, wrote Nicholas Murray, a dance critic, "can present a synthetic blending of beauty without a peer, knowing his art as no one else—adapting himself to the Occidental."

MON IS RULED OUT AS ILLEGAL

When by Alderman R. T. Williams for a moratorium on the tax sale was ruled out of the Mayor at last night's meeting of the City Council. Little Bedtime Stories

Nimble Heels Jumps Blindly

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

A funny thing about this world is the unexpectedness of things. Have you ever noticed that? Good things come to you unexpectedly and bad things happen in just the same way. Some folks are always expecting bad things to happen, and it sometimes seems as if they were just the people to whom bad things do happen.

Nimble Heels the Jumping Mouse, for his size the most wonderful of all jumpers, is one of the most timid members of a most timid family. Not even his cousin, Nibbler the House Mouse, is more timid. So, like all timid people, Nimble Heels is all the time expecting something to happen. Anyhow, that is the way it appears to his neighbors.

To be sure, Nimble Heels has enough to make him timid. Like the rest of his family, he is forever being hunted. In the day time he never knows when the keen eyes of a member of the Hawk family are upon him. At any time of day Black Pussy the Cat may come sneaking through the grass looking for him. At night Hooty the Owl, Reddy Fox, and Old Man Coyote hunt for him just as they do for his cousin, Danny Meadow Mouse. So Nimble Heels is always ready to jump at the least hint of danger.

You mustn't understand from what I have told you that Nimble Heels always goes in great long jumps when he moves about. That is what Peter Rabbit thought at first, and Peter was quite surprised when he discovered that Nimble Heels runs about on the ground in much the same way as his relatives. It is when he is startled or in great danger that Nimble Heels jumps.

He is much like Peter Rabbit, in that he prefers the night to the day for traveling about. That is one reason why he is not better known by the little people of the day. That is the time he likes to sleep curled up in a snug little nest under a grassy tuft or upturned sod. This is just what he was doing one day not long after his visit to the dear Old Brier Patch. He was fast asleep, dreaming the dreams that mice love best. Not a single soul knew where his cozy little bed was. He had slept there for so many days without once being disturbed that he felt quite safe there. Whenever he went out looking for food he expected something to happen, but there in that carefully hidden little nest he never expected anything to happen.

This being so, perhaps you can imagine how Nimble Heels felt when he was awakened from those beautiful mouse dreams by the shaking of the ground by heavy footsteps very near him. His eyes flew open, but down there among the stems of the tall grasses he could see nothing. Swish, swish, came through the grass and something very big and terrible seemed to be right over him. Nimble Heels was too frightened to think. But if he couldn't think, he could jump, and jump he did, without once looking where he was jumping. He said afterward that there wasn't time for that. He jumped blindly and then wished he hadn't.

He landed in the queerest place you can imagine. Can you guess where?

Next story: A Double Scare.

EGG SHORTAGE IS WORST IN DECADE

Wholesale and Retail Prices on All Grades Higher Than for Past Twelve Years

An egg famine, the greatest in twelve years, is reported in Victoria by wholesalers, who believe that it will continue for at least two months longer, with the possibility that it may even extend into next year.

At the present time the wholesale price of top grade eggs is at least five cents higher than at the same time last year, while pullets' eggs are also very scarce. In the retail market, fresh extras are priced from forty-five to forty-nine cents a dozen and in some cases are unobtainable.

BIGAMY CASE IS DISMISSED

Judge Lampman Laments Expenditure of Public Money on Baboo Trial

Baboo, charged with bigamy, was acquitted by Judge F. S. Lampman, in the County Court yesterday, on the conclusion of the evidence. After disposing of the case, His Honor expressed regret at what he described as a waste of public money in conducting such a case.

Stuart Henderson, who represented the accused in the proceedings, attacked the evidence given by the first Mrs. Baboo, by Masses Singh and the witness Lab that Mrs. Baboo and Baboo were seen at the same time in the Sikh Temple in 1927. He contended the last time before this action was started that the first Mrs. Baboo was here in 1924. This left eight years elapsing before the second marriage took place in 1932.

ATTACKED EVIDENCE

The excuse offered for the first wife's coming to Victoria as alleged in 1927 was to collect an account. There would be a receipt to offer if this were true.

W. B. Colvin, for the Crown, stressed the fact that when the attorney was made to find out whether the first wife was alive by Baboo before he married the second time, Victoria and Vancouver were not in the same state.

IT NEVER PAYS TO TAKE CHANCES WITH DOUBTFUL BAKING POWDER. I USE AND APPROVE MAGIC. IT IS ALWAYS DEPENDABLE.

searched for her instead of the United States.

Judge Lampman did not rely much on the evidence offered as to who were in the Temple on a particular date some eight years ago. He felt it was not likely that this would be so easily recalled. He believed the accused and Sohan Singh had made an endeavor to find whether the first wife was alive. The evidence of the informant, the first wife, showed that there was spite behind the action, and in view of her falsehoods with respect to her son and to a previous marriage he was not inclined to believe her testimony.

JURY PETITIONS FOR PRISONERS' RELEASE

SASKATOON, Oct. 16 (CP).—Stating they misunderstood their duty, twelve jurymen who found Frank Souly and Walter J. Rockhill guilty of rioting at the city unemployment relief camp last May, today petitioned the Minister of Justice at Ottawa to release the prisoners on parole. During the disturbance, Inspector L. J. Sampson, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was killed.

YU'ANHEE SEE LAUGHS

by Sax Rohmer

SYNOPSIS

After Matt Kearney was good-bye to his sister Ellen, bound for Colombo on board the Walrus, which is held at the London dock by her, she tells Jack that Matt, the chief officer, who is an old friend of Matt's, that a repulsive looking Chinese peered in through the open door of her stateroom. Matt says it was undoubtedly a Chinese from the Lushan district, who at the last minute decided not to make a stateroom to Sydney. The stuff is being taken out of the hold now, Jack says irritably. Just as he must see to the safe storing of 2,500,000 pounds in gold, contained in the ship's earlier to school with Matt, but when he was about to go to Oxford, his father died, leaving him a small fortune. Dawson, having been principally dabbling in the Lushan district, and is now the youngest detective in the land. As Matt leaves the ship, Dawson appears out of the fog. Dawson explains that Matt's friend, King, Lushan's shipping agent, started to ship to Sydney on the Walrus a consignment of "mystery," which is really opium, but changed their minds at the last minute. The opium is now in the warehouse of Jo Lung, and it's Lushan's duty to get it out of there. Dawson is called back to Scotland Yard on another case, and asks Kearney to go with him to Matt's district. Kearney is to make use of Matt's district. Kearney is the London correspondent of a New York paper. His father was an Irish-American.

CHAPTER II

A heavy wooden gate, set in a high, old brick wall, did not look very promising. Partially defaced by time and weather, the gate, "Jo Lung's" might still with difficulty be read thereupon. Just beside the inscription was an electric bell push, and to this Detective Sergeant Norwich applied his finger.

"Don't forget the American accent, sir," he whispered.

"I can't!" Kearney replied. "So they tell me here."

This cul-de-sac was curiously quiet, although its blind end terminated near to the river bank. Here, the fog was thick again. Kearney conjured up a picture of the Walrus, lying far downstream, and of a cosy stateroom. Ellen would be in bed now, propped up, reading. He hoped she was happy. He was very fond of Ellen.

Suddenly a small door, set in one wing of the greater one, opened quite silently inwards. The light of an electric lamp of that pattern carried by the police shone into their faces. Behind the lamp, indistinguishable in the darkness, appeared a stooping figure, shadowily peering at them. "What you want, please?" asked a soft, monotonous voice.

Peering hard, Matt Kearney made

out that the speaker was a dark blue turban. The doorkeeper was not, as one might have anticipated, a Chinaman, but an Arab bow-wab.

"Mr. Jo Lung," Norwich replied distinctly. "I have brought him a customer from the United States. The bow-wab turned light upon the speaker's face, and:

"I don't see you here before," he commented.

"Maybe not," Norwich returned. "But I come from Mr. Bernardson. Look at this."

He held out a card. Bony brown fingers grasped it and placed it close before the light of the lantern; then:

"All right," said the guardian of the gateway. "Please come in."

The two stepped into a little courtyard which seemed to turn left under the lee of a dilapidated building and which, so Kearney had been told, actually came out in the adjoining street. The Arab proved to be a gaunt man with a lined and pock-marked face, sunken eyes and an ominous expression.

They crossed to a corner of the yard, mounted four stone steps, and entered a little dimly lighted passage, having a window with an iron grating overlooking the courtyard. Under this window, upon the floor, was a dirty mattress, a bottle, a tin mug, and the remains of a meal upon an enameled plate. The place was stuffy and full of cigarette smoke. It was evidently the sanctum of the Arab night porter.

"Please wait," said the bow-wab, leaving them together in the dimly lighted room. Shuffling footsteps died away in some dark place beyond, and Kearney was about to open when Norwich shook his head urgently.

Standing there in an oppressive hush, a long way off in the building Kearney heard a sound.

Although at first he failed to identify it, immediately he knew that it was horrible. It was a very high sound, between a piping and a squeal; higher than the note of a rat. It was a paroxysm, so still as to be nearly inaudible.

Then, suddenly, he knew of what it reminded him . . . the amplified squeak of a bat! It was chilling; terrifying; in some way—unclean.

He exchanged a rapid glance with Norwich; and Norwich stood like a man petrified.

"For God's sake! what was it?" Kearney whispered.

"I can't imagine, sir . . . Shh! Someone coming!"

"It was like . . . laughter . . ."

The emporium of Jo Lung was incredible as a fairy tale. It occupied all the rooms on two floors of a rambling old building, eight or nine rooms in all, and each one literally crammed with treasures. At times Kearney imagined the place covered in ways of old Damascus just around the next turning; that the Street Called Straight, and not King's Crossway, adjoined this wonder-land. On entering other rooms, he was transported to the Seraglio Palace, and thought that he stood in the treasury of the Sultans.

Only the manner in which these priceless items were displayed served to dissipate such illusions. They were piled carelessly upon rough, trestle tables.

Here were lacquer cabinets, chests and caskets, antique and modern; each one a choice piece. Damascus swords, Venetian goblets, whole services of Ming porcelain; prayer carpets of a quality seldom seen outside a museum; a collection of books in exquisite bindings; a great quantity of antique silver.

A highly civilized and well-dressed Greek did the honors. "Jo Lung is unfortunately away," he explained to Norwich. "But if I can help, I am at your service. No doubt," turning to Kearney, who was endeavoring to hide his bewilderment, "you have a definite idea what you are seeking?"

Kearney conquered his astonishment. He endeavored to recall Dawson Haig's instructions. Jo Lung was the biggest "fence"—or dealer in stolen goods—in all London! Surprise visits had never yet caught him napping. This was a new move. Detective Sergeant Norwich had memorized a long list of stolen jewelry—principally foreign; and their job was to try to identify even one item in Jo's emporium. On this, Haig could act . . . and the cases of opium lay in an adjoining yard!

"My friend, Mr. Bronsen, has several commissions, said Norwich. (Matt Kearney was Mr. Bronsen.)

"But mostly colored gems."

"Yes," Kearney broke in. "I'm commissioned by a New York client to complete a collection of sapphires."

"Sapphires!" The Greek raised heavy eyebrows. "I fear I am unfortunate. If Mr. Jo Lung were here he might be able to help you. But to the best of my knowledge we have few sapphires in stock at present. They are not," he smiled slightly, very probably just now. However, you shall see."

They passed along a corridor, went down three naked wooden steps and picked up a collection of lamps—lamps of perforated brass, of silver, and of gold; lamps from Arabia, from China, and from Japan.

Detective Sergeant Norwich was all eyes.

They entered a room resembling a small shop, and the Greek, stepping behind a narrow counter, pulled out a tray from beneath and opened it for the visitors' inspection.

It was as he did so that the almost insupportable silence began to bear down again upon Kearney. The treasure house of Jo Lung was the most silent place he had ever known in the heart of a city. Its silence was uncanny . . . Jo Lung has others in the safe—the Greek was speaking—"these are the only colored gems in stock at present."

Kearney bent over the tray, listening to the silence. Later, he was to realize what he really listened for. It was for a repetition of that ghastly laughter.

Now, resting his eyes upon the jewels, he suppressed an exclamation in the nick of time.

The tray was arranged with some artistic care, and in its centre, under the harsh, unadorned lamp which the Greek had switched on, blazed a group of amazingly matched fire opals. Kearney clenched his teeth and bent lower, peering down.

Here lay evidence to justify a search of Jo Lung's premises! Beyond any possibility of mistake, this was the "Dakenham necklace"—the famous rope of opals which his Aunt Hilda, Lady Dakenham, had taken with her upon the ill-fated voyage of the American yacht, Miss Minnesota, lost with all hands in the Persian Gulf, less than a year before! Yet—a query leaped to his brain—was it evidence?

"You are admiring the opals?" The Greek's voice seemed to come from the nearest distance. Kearney pulled himself together, and:

"Yes," he said, and met the unblinking gaze of the man's dark eyes. "If I were buying opals, I should buy these."

"You would be wise. But you know Mr. Lung's methods of business?"

"Yes. Even if I wanted to buy I haven't the cash!" He was cool enough now. He added, "These sapphires are indifferent. I'm sorry."

The Greek replaced the tray, and:

"Perhaps you will honor us with a visit, Mr. Bronsen, next time you visit England," he suggested. "Special requirements such as yours can't always be met at short notice."

He led them to an unlighted room beyond which were more descending stairs.

"What have you here," Norwich asked curiously, "in these cases?"

"Kearney was slightly ahead when the Greek paused and looked back
